

Cops nab suspect accused of sexually abusing 9-year-old boy

BY ROCCO PARASCANDOLA THOMAS TRACY

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS Saturday, September 24, 2016, 12:00 AM

Leiby Kletzky's 2011 abduction and murder — just five blocks away from this latest incident — led to a $1 million campaign to install 100 security cameras in Borough Park. (BEBETO MATTHEWS/AP)

Police have arrested a 38-year-old man, who they say lured a 9-year-old Hasidic boy into his car, then pleased himself in front of the child, officials said.

Chaim Weissman, of Brooklyn, was charged with sex abuse, sexual contact with an individual less than 11 years old, and other child abuse charges for the Sept. 14 incident on 18th Ave. in Borough Park — just five blocks away from where 8-year-old Leiby Kletzky was abducted and murdered in 2011, officials said.

Weissman gave the boy $100 after he masturbated, cops said.

© 2016 New York Daily News

