

April 10, 2014 – The Villager

Butt-grabber busted

Shalom Segelman, 35, was arrested early April 3 after he grabbed a woman's rear on a West Village sidewalk, police said.

A surveillance image of the serial bankrobbing suspect, according to police.

The victim, 31, told cops she was talking to her boyfriend near the corner of Jane and West Sts., around 1:30 a.m., when Segelman passed by and squeezed her rear end. The woman and her boyfriend together were able to detain the alleged perv while flagging down a police officer, who quickly apprehended him. Segelman was charged with forcible touching.